Admin Module

- IREPS application calls for extensive administration responsibilities to be handled by registered administrators from railways.
- These administrators have roles divided amongst them based on their location and authority.
- EPS Administrator and Department Administrators are two types of administrators who look after all the administrative functions and also maintain the application on an ongoing basis

Help Desk

The Help Desk is the module of the EPS application which provides the facility to Contractors, Railway users and others to get help if they face any problem at the time of using the application, or if they have any query regarding the application.

This module tracks the log of all queries raised by different users and log of replies sent by help desk users to the raisers

Department Admins

- Depending on the Functions, Privileges and Responsibilities, Railway users are divided into two categories namely:
 - Department Administrators and,
 - Standard Railway Users
- The application also allows a unit to have more than one department admin. Officials of grade Jr. Scale and above can only be made department admins

Role of Department Admins

- Each railway department (Engineering, Mechanical, Electrical, S&T etc.) within an administrative or functional setup of Indian Railways (Zone/PU Hqrs., Divisions, Workshops, Maintenance depots, Stocking depots etc.) is registered as a separate unit on IREPS Portal.
- These units are known as IREPS departments. Each such IREPS department has a department administrator for performing administrative tasks like Management of Users/ Sections/ Posts/ Condition Masters/ Document Masters/ Item Directories, Assignment of Functions to posts, Nomination of officials for opening of tenders etc.
- Creation of standard users, posts, and assignment of functions etc. have to be done by the department admin.

Admin Functions

- Manage Sections: Each IREPS department is divided into sub-units called sections.
 - An official of a unit can only create tenders within the sections assigned to him.
 - Furthermore, the user can access all the draft tenders of all the sections assigned to him, whether created by him or any other official of the unit. This allows segregation of work of different officials of the unit.
- Manage Posts: This functionality allows the department admins to create new posts, and edit the attributes of posts like sections, work areas, functions, address and contact details etc.
 - Interface for creation and management of posts can be accessed through the Manage Posts link in the Admin functions section on Railway User Home page.

Admin Functions

- Create Users: This functionality is meant for creation of User account of individual users
- Update Department Details: This functionality is meant to update the address and contact details of the unit, and the Tender Calling Authority in whose name tenders are being called by the unit.
- Upload Encryption Certificate: This utility is meant for attaching the public key of the Digital Encryption Certificate of the unit with the profile of the unit. Thereafter this public key automatically gets attached with each tender issued by the unit.

Admin Functions

- Link Finance Department: Every IREPS department is required to have an associate finance department linked with it for processes like tender opening etc. This is done through the Link Financial Department interface.
- Tender Opening Schedule: This link is available in the left navigation block, and is meant for nominating officials for opening of tenders.

Encryption

- Encryption is a process of converting readable data into unreadable characters to prevent unauthorized access.
- It is treated like any other data (it can be stored, sent, etc.)
- To read the data, the recipient must decrypt, or decipher, it into a readable form.

Encryption

- The unencrypted, readable data is called plaintext.
- The encrypted (scrambled) data is called ciphertext.
- An encryption algorithm, or cypher, is a set of steps that can convert readable plaintext into unreadable ciphertext.

| Simple Encryption Algorithms | | | | |
|------------------------------|---|-------------|-------------|--|
| Name | Algorithm | Plaintext | Ciphertext | Explanation |
| Transposition | Switch the order of characters | SOFTWARE | OSTFAWER | Adjacent characters swapped |
| Substitution | Replace characters with other characters | INFORMATION | WLDIMXQUWIL | Each letter replaced with another |
| Expansion | Insert characters between existing characters | USER | UYSYERY | Letter Y inserted after each character |
| Compaction | Remove characters and store elsewhere | ACTIVATION | ACIVTIN | Every third letter removed (T, A, O) |

Encryption

- An encryption key is a set of characters that the originator of the data uses to encrypt the plaintext and the recipient of the data uses to decrypt the ciphertext.
- With private key encryption, also called symmetric key encryption, both the originator and the recipient use the same secret key to encrypt and decrypt the data.
- Public key encryption, also called asymmetric key encryption, uses two encryption keys, a public and a private.
 - A message generated with a public key can be decrypted only with the private key.

Encryption

- Some operating systems and e-mail programs allow you to encrypt the contents of files.
- Programs such as pretty Good Privacy (PGP) can be used as well.
- A digital signature is an encrypted code that a person, Web site, or organization attaches to an electronic message to verify the identity of the message sender.
- It consists of the user's name and a hash of all or part of the message, which is a mathematical formula that generates a code from the contents of the message.

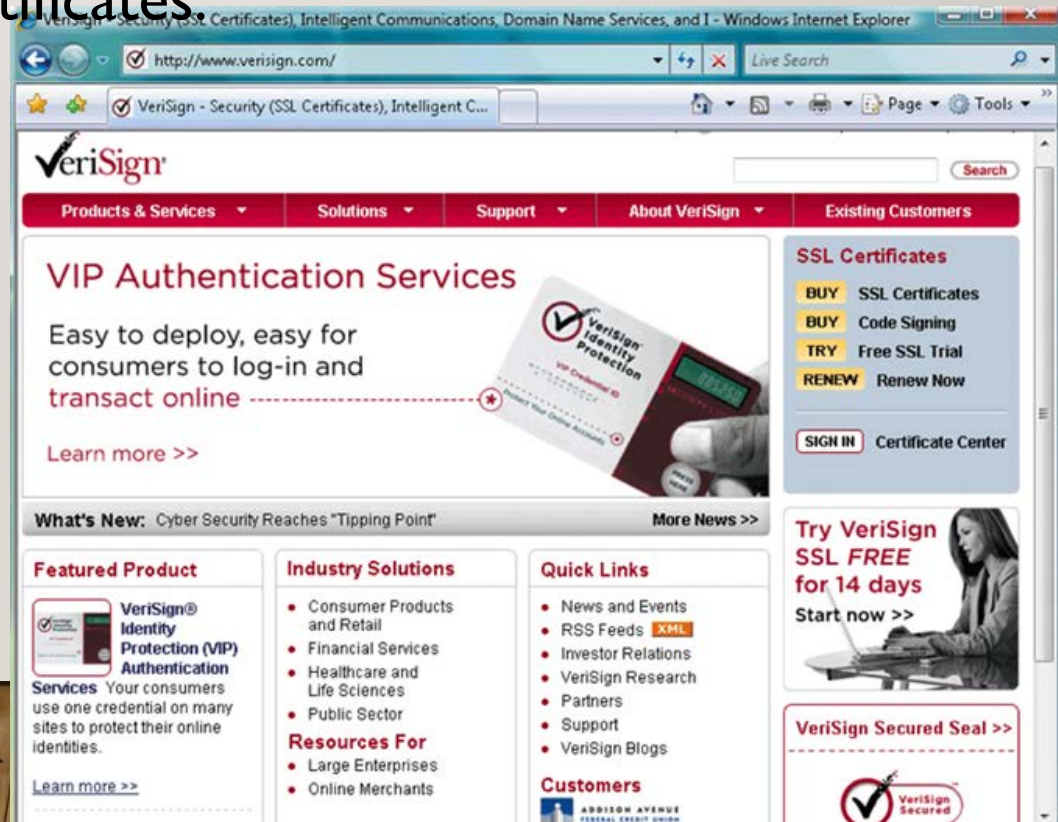

Encryption

- Many Web browsers offer 40-bit, 128-bit, and even 1024-bit encryption, which are even higher levels of protection since they have longer keys.
- A Web site that uses encryption techniques is known as a secure site, which use digital certificates along with a security protocol.

Digital Certificates

- A digital certificate is a notice that guarantees a user or a Web site is legitimate.
- A certificate authority (CA) is an authorized person or company that issues and verifies digital certificates.

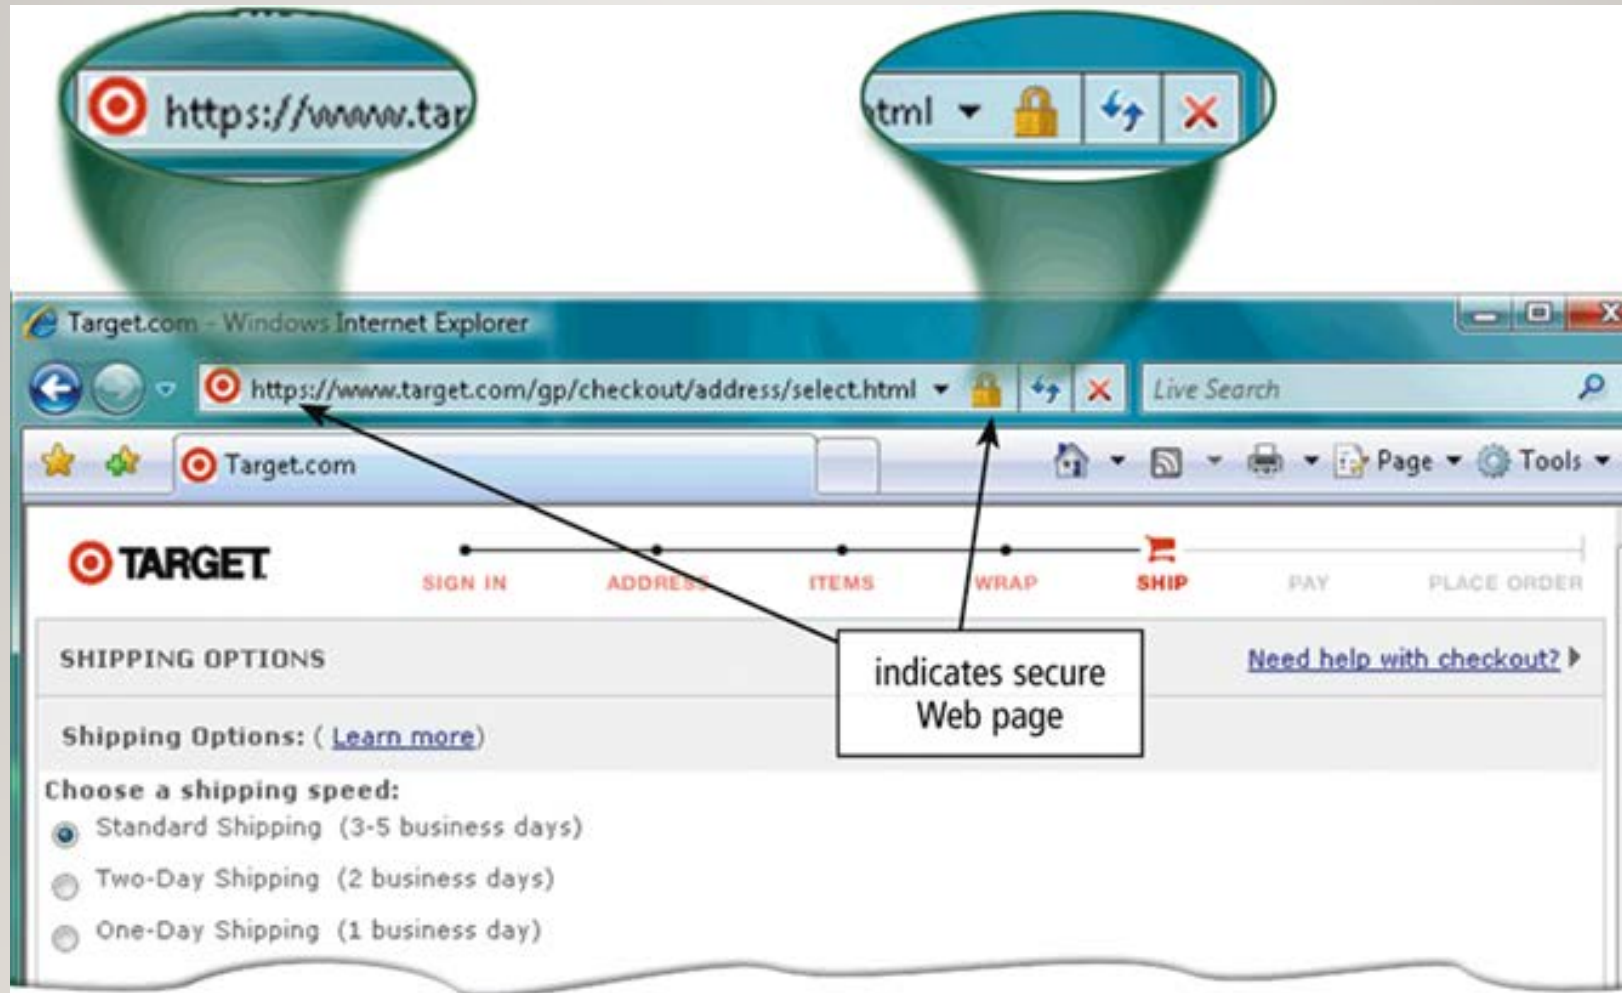

Transport Layer Security

- Transport Layer Security (TLS) a successor to Secure Sockets Layer (SSL), provides encryption of all data that passes between a client and an Internet server.
- Both ends require a certificate and prevents perpetrators from accessing or tampering with communications
- TLS protected websites typically begin with https, instead of http.

Transport Layer Security

Secure HTTP

- Secure HTTP (S-HTTP) allows users to choose an encryption scheme for data that passes between a client and server.
- It is more difficult than TLS to use, but it is also more secure.

Assurance Levels

- Class I

- This provides a basic level of assurance relevant to environments where there are risks and consequences of data compromise, but they are not considered to be of major significance.

- Class II

- This level is relevant to environments where risks and consequences of data compromise are moderate. This may include transactions having substantial monetary value or risk of fraud, or involving access to private information where the likelihood of malicious access is substantial.

- Class III

- This level is relevant to environments where threats to data are high or the consequences of the failure of security services are high. This may include very high value transactions or high levels of fraud risk.

- Aadhar eKyc-OTP

- This level is relevant to environments where OTP based Aadhaar-eKyc authentication is acceptable method for credential verification prior to issuance of DSC. Certificate holder's private keys are created on hardware and destroyed immediately after one time usage at this assurance level.
